Bank Phishing Scam

You receive an email that looks like it is from your financial institution telling you to update your information. The email alarms you because it says that your account will be suspended until you update your information. You are instructed to click on a link to easily update your user profile. What do you do? It looks valid...after all, it contains your bank's logo.

- PAUSE
- Does the message contain red flags?
  - Sense of urgency
  - Spelling errors
  - Contain a link or button
- Do NOT click on the link
- Verify the legitimacy by visiting your bank website or app directly or call using the number on the back of your debit card

If you click on this link, you would be prompted to download a tool to "help" you. In reality, it will allow scammers to access your account and steal your money and/or identity. If you are unsure about a message, no matter how it is received, take the time to review it carefully. Get the opinion of a trusted family or friend. If you have determined it seems "phishy" don't be afraid to simply delete and continue on with your day.
